Dear Sir:

Mr. Edward T. Newell told me upon his return from Europe recently, that he had seen in Munich, when he was in your establishment there, a hoard which consisted in part of a number of coins of Corcyra, all in very fine condition. Unfortunately, he did not recall the name of the find of which these formed a part, and he suggested that I write you for this information, stating that he believed you could give me the contents of the hoard and whence it had come.

I should much appreciate having the above information if you are able to give it to me.

Yours very truly,

Editor & Secretary
